

More About The Guild...

Performance Preludes

This year, the Guild will fully underwrite the DSO's Performance Preludes. Performance Preludes are scheduled pre-concert talks given before every performance in the DSO's Classical Series. Your enjoyment of the Symphony is guaranteed to be heightened by your newly gained knowledge from the experts presenting each musical discourse. Performance Preludes are free for all Symphony ticket holders, and begin one hour prior to each concert.

Funds raised from the Guild's Spring Gala help to support this important DSO education program.

For more information about the Performance Prelude series, please call the DSO Education Department at 214.871.4006.

Dallas Symphony Orchestra Guild Spring Gala

The Guild's Spring Gala funds the Performance Preludes. Imagine an intimate and beautiful setting. You and your friends enjoy a private concert performed just for you by a world-class artist. In past years, the Gala has featured internationally celebrated musicians such as the Walden Piano Quartet; Van Cliburn Gold Medalists Olga Kern and Jon Nakamatsu; Asher Fisch, Music Director of the New Israeli Opera; and pianist Louis Lortie.

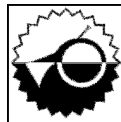

This year, the Dallas Symphony Orchestra Guild will again present its members with a rare performance, delicious dining, and a beautiful venue.

DALLAS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA GUILD

The Guild

The Dallas Symphony Orchestra Guild is a group of classical music lovers who are dedicated to deepening their knowledge and appreciation of classical music. That is our bond. We are from all walks of life, know each other on a first name basis and greet one another at the Symphony, the Guild and other musical events. Sharing the music we love with friends makes it a more meaningful experience.

About The Guild

The Dallas Symphony Orchestra Guild presents two series of events. Guild events are generally small and intimate in nature, with plenty of chances to meet and speak directly with our guest musicians, composers, and conductors.

The Luncheon Events...

are held at elegant clubs such as the Petroleum Club, the Dallas Country Club, and Lakewood Country Club. These events always feature the interesting personalities behind Dallas Symphony Orchestra concerts and the fabulous fare that is the best that Dallas can offer.

The Evening Events...

are held in some of the most beautiful private homes in Dallas. These events, which often include music, feature the movers and shakers of the classical music world in a rare intimate atmosphere. Accompanying the interesting talk is a delicious spread of hors d'oeuvres and wine.

Membership

Joining the Dallas Symphony Orchestra Guild is easy! Simply fill out the membership form attached to this brochure and mail it to the address provided, or call Nancy McThompson at 214.871.4004. For more information, you can also email membership@dsoguild.com or log on to our website at www.dsoguild.com.

The type of membership you chose determines your Guild dues. You will receive either 5 or 10 event stars, and you may use them for yourself or a guest at Luncheon or Evening Events.

Please inquire at membership@dsoguild.com.

DSOG PEOPLE

DSOG people love classical music, and they love to meet the musicians, composers and conductors that bring that music to them at the DSO! Members of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra Guild share luncheon or evening events with their friends and the people that help make the Dallas Symphony Orchestra one of the best in the country.
